

The darkness will flee!

Contributed by billraul

The darkness will flee!
I hear the thunder in the background
I see the clouds moving in
There is a storm on the horizon
Coming fast, moving on in.

I start to turn and run away
It picks up speed, it sees these things
On its way, here it is surrounding me
Making sure I do not flee.

Out of the darkness surrounding me
What is that, what do I see.
A speck of light could it be,
Yes there is Jesus coming for me.

Hold fast my son, I hear him say,
Give me your hand, I will show you the way
Then the light grows in such a way
The darkness turns and rolls away.

He sits down right there with arms open wide
Invites me to join him his love cannot hide
He smiles at me and says all is ok
I am here all the time can you not see.

Trust in me, give me all things
Do this and the darkness will flee
I love you my son, please just walk and you will see
I am here by your side... keep your eyes upon me.
